CENTER FOR COMMUNICATION COMPLIANCE EXPANDS ADVISORY BOARD TO INCLUDE MEDICAL EDUCATION EXPERT AND CORPORATE REGULATORY OFFICER

NEW YORK, November 20, 2008 – The Center for Communication Compliance (CCC) announces the appointment of two new members to its Advisory Board. Anthony Iacono, President and Founder of Access Medical Network, and Nancie Zecco, Senior Regulatory Associate for Alkermes, Inc., bring significant and complementary expertise to the Board. The CCC Advisory Board, which oversees the development of the Regulatory Compliance Test, or RCT, is composed of former FDA officials, regulatory lawyers and expert consultants in pharmaceutical and medical drug and device regulatory policies.

Formerly Assistant Vice-President at Wyeth Pharmaceuticals, Tony Iacono brings his broad corporate pharmaceutical experience and medical education expertise to the CCC Board. Tony was a member of the American Medical Association (AMA) Working Group on Gifts to Physicians from Industry, and education chair and board member of the Healthcare Marketing Council. Tony currently serves on the Continuing Medical Education (CME) subcommittee of the Coalition for Healthcare Communication.

Nancie Zecco brings a distinctive background in corporate pharmaceutical regulatory compliance to the Advisory Board. She has overseen regulatory aspects of product development and commercialization, as well as aspects of FDA submissions. As a Regulatory Affairs professional, Nancie has extensive experience in managing regulatory audits of Phase I through Phase IV clinical studies.

"We are delighted to welcome Nancie and Tony to the CCC Advisory Board," states Ilyssa Levins, CCC Founder and President. "Their perspectives offer a unique combination of academia and corporate insight." CCC currently offers standardized training and certification in public relations, advertising and promotional medical education.

The Center for Communication Compliance (CCC) is the first and only centralized resource, training, and certification portal for healthcare communication professionals designed to support and enhance regulatory compliance. This on-demand Web site administers the Regulatory Compliance Test (RCT), the only expert-reviewed test available for healthcare communication professionals that certifies competency in various aspects of regulatory compliance. CCC also offers the only standardized WebEx regulatory training tailored for healthcare communicators that helps to reduce risk, increase credibility, and save time.
